Here's How I See It:

On one side we have a psychopath lying traitor with a history replete with lies, deceipt, and collusion with foreign nations for money.

On the other side we have a Dark Triad full-blown narcissist with the emotional and mental stability of a 10 year old spoiled child.

And surrounding us we have Islam on the rise, expecting to culminate their 1400 years of terror with world domination.

We have China with an ever growing military, much of which is as good or better than ours, and they're speeding up.

We have Russia, eager to re-establish themselves as a serious world power, and both of our candidates are either in bed with them or have allowed them access to Top Secret documents.

We have an out of control psycho nutjob in N. Korea with nuclear weapons and missiles. Totally unpredictable & threatening us.

We have a financial system that went off the charts years ago

From @KurtSchlichter's new must-read article - townhall.com/columnists/kur…

> Obama and the progressive elite were not satisfied merely with exonerating the clearly guilty Hillary Clinton of charges that would have sent any mere mortal to the slammer. They had to shove it in our faces. The AG met with Bill Clinton. Then the FBI director laid out a devastating case, followed by an "and…nope." Then President Faily McWorsethancarter swept her away in Air Force One – at our expense – to campaign with her and even placed her at a podium with the presidential seal while the liberal media thrilled and quivered. This is beyond mere corruption. This is them gloating over what they see as their unassailable power. This is them laughing at us.

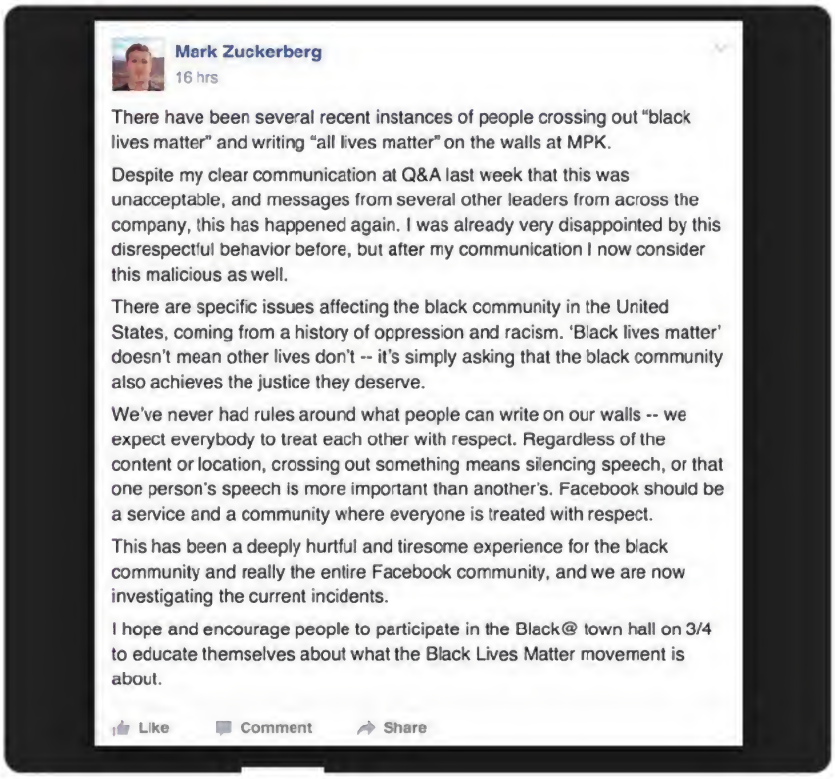
This is what happens when kids get way too much money early in life. Zuckerberg=idiot



Mark Zuckerberg
16 hrs

There have been several recent instances of people crossing out "black lives matter" and writing "all lives matter" on the walls at MPK.

Despite my clear communication at Q&A last week that this was unacceptable, and messages from several other leaders from across the company, this has happened again. I was already very disappointed by this disrespectful behavior before, but after my communication I now consider this malicious as well.

There are specific issues affecting the black community in the United States, coming from a history of oppression and racism. 'Black lives matter' doesn't mean other lives don't -- it's simply asking that the black community also achieves the justice they deserve.

We've never had rules around what people can write on our walls -- we expect everybody to treat each other with respect. Regardless of the content or location, crossing out something means silencing speech, or that one person's speech is more important than another's. Facebook should be a service and a community where everyone is treated with respect.

This has been a deeply hurtful and tiresome experience for the black community and really the entire Facebook community, and we are now investigating the current incidents.

I hope and encourage people to participate in the Black@ town hall on 3/4 to educate themselves about what the Black Lives Matter movement is about.
